The user of this site should take into account that, when using it, may be directed to other sites that are beyond our control. Each website available on the Internet has another privacy policy and different policies regarding your personal information. The privacy policies and practices of other sites are beyond our control. It is your sole responsibility to read and understand the privacy policies of any and all websites that you visit on the Internet. These other sites may send their own cookies, or otherwise gather data or request personal information. You should always be aware of the consequences of your Internet searches and where they may end. Some links on the website are directed to pages or websites maintained by third parties, for which we do not exercise any type of control. The Marathon Club of Portugal is not responsible or guarantee the accuracy and content of these resources.

Safety

The security of all information that may personally identify our users is of utmost importance and concern to us. While Internet security can never be guaranteed, we strive to provide the utmost care in the secure transmission of personal information from our users, from their computers to our servers, using encrypted software.

Terms of Use

Only employees who, for work reasons, need access to the information of our users, are authorized to do so. Any employee who violates our security and / or privacy policy is subject to disciplinary action, including possible dismissal and / or criminal prosecution.

Other terms

By using this site, you give your tacit consent to this privacy policy. If you do not agree to this policy, you should not use our site. We reserve the right to change these terms at any time without notice. Your continued use of our site after posting changes to these terms will mean your acceptance of these changes.

Cookies Notices

This Cookies Policy is part of the Maratona Clube de Portugal Privacy Policy <https://www.maratonadelisboa.com/en/>, hereinafter referred to as "Website".

Introduction

This cookie policy aims to explain how Maratona Clube de Portugal uses the personal information it collects through its website, namely how, when and why the cookies are used.

On the Website we use cookies with the aim of providing a unique and personalized experience to each of our users. In addition, we may share aggregate data with our technology partners to enable us to improve our website and the user experiences it provides.

What is a Cookie?

Cookies are files that contain small amounts of information that is downloaded to your device whenever you visit a web page. The main purpose of cookies is to recognize the user whenever he / she accesses the website, allowing to offer a better use of the website, simplifying navigation.

Cookies do not cause any damage to the user equipment (smartphones, tablets, or computers). If you would like to know more about cookies, we recommend a visit to: <https://www.allaboutcookies.org> and <https://www.aboutcookies.org/>.

Why do we use Cookies?

Maratona Clube de Portugal uses Cookies with the same objective as most websites: it seeks to improve the experience of its users, in terms of navigation, performance or content presented.

Cookies allow the Website to memorize information about your visit, such as your preferred language, location, recurrence of sessions, and other variables that we consider important to make your search experience more comfortable and efficient.

Type of cookies

The Website uses the following types of cookies:

- For review: We use Google Analytics to understand how users use the website. This information will be stored by Google and you can access the Google Privacy Policy via google.com/intl/en/policies/privacy
- Icl_current_language – allows the user to access the website using a predefined language based on their previous access experience.
- Cfduid – user identifier

How the user can avoid cookies?
